

The Intelligencer.

TARIFF TINKERING

PROPOSED BY MR. MANNING.

The Theories of the Secretary of the Treasury—The Menace to American Industries and American Labor—Where the Danger Lies.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—After the transaction of some unimportant business, the Senate resumed consideration of Mr. Manning's resolution declaring it impracticable to make a proper revision of the tariff at the present session, and Mr. Dawes took the floor. He reviewed the existing law, and said he had yet to see the man who would not favor placing on the free list such raw materials as were not produced in this country.

The Secretary of the Treasury, he said, had come into the field and taken his position on the subject of the tariff, causing increased apprehension and alarm in all the great industries of the land.

Robt. conservative business men, and thoughtful, anxious, but clear headed, dependents on these interests, were not seriously inquiring whether, on the whole, they might not be wrecked if the doctrines announced in the reports of the Secretary of the Treasury were to govern in the revision of the tariff.

The Secretary of the Treasury, he said, was to enter into the field and take his position on the subject of the tariff, causing increased apprehension and alarm in all the great industries of the land.

There is an impression in France that the Goblet cabinet will be easily broken. Jay Gould wouldn't support Judge Gresham for anything. Mr. Gould is displeased with Judge Gresham.

Secretary Manning may resign, but Garland—where can he find so much a place for his peculiar talents? The sun may cease to shine, but Garland will not resign.

SUNDAY or no Sunday; that is the question in New York, Pittsburgh and sundry other cities, where Sunday as a hallowed day seemed to have been abolished by the law of common consent.

When forty-old men, including five U. S. Senators, permit themselves to be disarmed and plundered by two train robbers, the time seems to have come to put the army on a war footing.

The Secretary of the Treasury holds a place of great influence and power, but he is not strong enough to knock out what is left of the greenback. That faithful public servant is on a firm foundation, and is not in the people's way.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is unfortunate in some of his appointments. There is Albert Geppert, who skipped from Racine, Wis., five years ago with $1,000 of stolen money. The Administration rewards him with a Dakota postoffice. Selah.

WHEATMEN may be the grievance of the San Francisco street car strikers; it cannot justify the beating of the new men and the rough usage of women and children. When workmen resort to violence they injure their cause, no matter how strong it may be.

Whoever wishes to go to a filibustering in Mexico with Outing has no time to lose. He wants but 8,000 men to clean out the Greaser Republic, and already he has 2,000. There may not be much money in the scheme, but what's the matter with "fame's eternal camping ground"?

A colored man brings a $1,000 damage suit against the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company for putting him out of a first class car into a car provided for colored people when he had a first class ticket. And this in Pennsylvania! Are they turning back the hands in the Keystone State?

MR. GLADSTONE's health is said to be excellent once more, and he is expected to lead his party at the coming session of Parliament. He is billed for a great speech, which will probably throw some new light on the Irish question. If the "grand old man" gives them his best, he will stir up the whole Tory monarchy.

IT IS SETTLED that Mr. Hensel is to step down from the chairmanship of the Pennsylvania Democratic Committee, the faithful are looking around for talent to lead them to defeat as gloriously as Hensel did. R. M. Speer, of Huntington, Wm. McClelland, of Pittsburgh, and Dallas Sanders, of Philadelphia, are a good deal spoken of in this connection. Speer and McClelland have each filled the place before, and both are Wallace men—neither later fact may not be regarded by Mr. Randall as a superlative qualification.

STEPPED ON THE PAID TRACK. PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—The Denison and Wheeling accommodation, coming East on the Panhandle road, struck three men near Nittsburg station, four miles west of this city, at 10 o'clock this a. m., killing Patrick Howard outright and seriously injuring Frank Cook and F. Hartington. The men stepped off the west-bound tracks to avoid a coal train and were struck by the accommodation coming in the opposite direction.

SMALLPOX IN PRISON. CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—A special to the Times from Springfield, Ill., says: "The symptoms of Leonard O. Warren, the federal prisoner from East St. Louis, removed from the jail to the posthouse, has become so clearly defined that the disease is pronounced to be a mild case of varioloid. The prisoners and officers at the jail have been quarantined."

SUDDENLY WIDOWED. MAINE, Dec. 13.—Charles Brown and Miss Cora Sibley were married Saturday evening. After the ceremony a social dance was enjoyed. About two hours after the ceremony the bridegroom fell dead from heart disease.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP is fast taking the place of all the old-fashioned cough remedies. It never fails to relieve the most violent cold, and for throat diseases it is invaluable. Price 25 cents. "Thus am I doubly armed—my death and life."

My hands and antidote are both before me. Whether to sit alone suffering with rheumatism Or buy one bottle of Salvation Oil.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Peculiar Position of General Miles Concerning the Apache Surrender.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The extraordinary situation in which General Miles is placed by the annual report of the Secretary of War, which specifically charges him with disobedience of orders in accepting the surrender of the Apaches, is the theme of conversation and gossip in military circles. Referring to the subject to-day the Post says:

"According to the army regulations General Miles should be at once placed under arrest and tried by court-martial, but he is at large, is entertained at dinner as the honored guest of the Secretary, and is receiving marked attention from other official sources. Just what it all means no one seems to know.

"An impression seems to prevail in circles that Miles is a scapegoat for somebody. The Secretary of War is a man of grave and dignified bearing, and it is not likely that he will be explained in a little while.

Appreciates the Situation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—Dr. Theodore Barth, a Liberal member of the German Reichstag, and editor of the Berlin Nation, now in this country studying American institutions and our political system, had an interview with President Cleveland on Saturday.

To a gentleman who made his acquaintance abroad Dr. Barth has repeated some of the views of the President. He says that Mr. Cleveland gave him much valuable information about the affairs of the United States, and in the course of conversation the subject of the Presidency was touched upon. In alluding to his own election Dr. Barth said that he had been elected to the office of Secretary of the Treasury through the influence of the President.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day: Thomas F. Benedict, of New York, to be Public Printer; Danahy H. Maury, of Virginia, to be Ex-Officio Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the Republic of Colombia.

To be United States District Attorneys—Daniel N. Lockwood, of New York, for the Southern District of New York; George A. Allen, of Pennsylvania, for the Western District of Pennsylvania; William B. Burnett, of Ohio, for the Southern District of Ohio.

Managing Will Case.

WASHINGTON, D. C., 13.—Secretary Manning paid last night he had no thought of resigning and that his health was improving daily.

STANLEY SUMMONED BACK.

King Leopold Cables the Explorer to Return at Once to Belgium.

New York, Dec. 13.—Stanley, the great explorer, was about stepping on the stage in the theater at Amherst to lecture before a large audience Saturday night when he was handed a dispatch, the contents of which visibly affected him for the rest of the evening. After the lecture he took the first train for New York, and arrived at an early hour, going at once to the Everett Hotel.

The message received was a cablegram from the London agent of King Leopold and it informed him that his Royal Highness desired his presence at once in Belgium. Stanley to-day acknowledged the receipt of the message and requested his correspondent to cable him why he is wanted. The explorer was seen in his room to-night. He at first seemed vexed that knowledge of his recall had leaked out.

"I have not the slightest idea why King Leopold desires me on the other side," he said, "but I will get an answer to my dispatch by 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, and if it means that I will start back. The band of Arabs which accompanied Stanley Falls is about 1,000 strong and commanded by a chief named Ben Mohammed. They are a really set of cut-throats, who kill all the rest of the band of Arabs who are with them, and who are now at the point of departure for the coast."

FEARS OF A REPETITION OF LAST WINTER'S ARCTIC WARS.

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., Dec. 13.—Forty-four degrees above zero at noon may not seem a serious matter to people up North. Yet at St. Augustine, Fla., it has caused great complaint by residents who have been suffering from the effects of the winter weather. The band of Arabs which accompanied Stanley Falls is about 1,000 strong and commanded by a chief named Ben Mohammed. They are a really set of cut-throats, who kill all the rest of the band of Arabs who are with them, and who are now at the point of departure for the coast.

THE CHINESE LOCKED OUT.

TAIPEI, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Eleven of the Chinese knitting mills resumed operations to-day, practically ending the lockout which began nine weeks ago. Five mills have already opened their doors, so that 10 out of 19 belonging to the association are now running. It is thought the other ten will resume this week as terms have been made with the Knights of Labor.

"Jim Cummings" Again.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—A special to the Inter Ocean, from Lafayette, Ind., says: "A letter postmarked Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 9, was received by the Oil City Derrick last Monday, alleged to have been written by the notorious 'Jim Cummings.'"

The detective here are now of the opinion that Cummings was in this city last week, and was the confidence man who gave his name as George Sloan. He was arrested Saturday afternoon for an attempted confidence game. He had a large amount of money on his person, and expressed great concern about his arrest. He was fined $37 by the Mayor, which he immediately paid, and made haste to leave town. The police think they made an important arrest, but were unable to hold him. They will endeavor to trace him."

OHIO RIVER RAILROAD.

The Ohio River Railroad will sell holiday tickets on December 24 and 25, and December 31 and January 1, returning to January 3, at reduced rates.

BRUTAL TREATMENT

OF STREET CAR PASSENGERS.

In San Francisco by Strikers, Who Stone the Cars and Prevent Their Progress—Insufficient Police Force—Cause of the Brutal Outrage.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Dec. 13.—The strike of the street car employees assumed serious proportions for an hour yesterday afternoon. In the morning the Geary street line was tied up by order of the Knights of Labor. The strikers formed a procession in the afternoon, and, headed by some 200 young hoodlums, marched over both street car lines, attacked and beat the new and old cars, and chased them away, and in several instances stoned and smashed the cars and the passengers of both sexes. Some thirty persons, chiefly women, were more or less hurt, and were taken to the Sutter Street Company's office for medical treatment.

A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

The apathy of the police is alleged to have been the cause of the riot. The police, though aware of the intentions of the strikers, had sent out ten men and a sergeant to keep order. This insignificant force was brushed aside like so many flies, and several of the officers were severely beaten. After most and the windows of the Sutter street cars had been smashed, and the strikers had finished their march and dispersed, a large force of police were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A number of strikers had just left the cars behind them running on schedule time, while all cars approaching were made targets for bricks, cobblestones, and staves.

NEW ORDER OF THINGS

In the City of Chicago—How the Ball Bond Operates.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—The principal police stations were partially crowded last night, it being the first Sunday on which the new ordinance relative to the ball bonds was in force. Down stairs in the cells were men who had committed trifling offenses and all were clamoring to be let out. Many who had sent notes to influential friends were denouncing their friends because they had not secured their release. The desk sergeants were kept busy answering the questions of men who dropped in to see if they could secure the release of prisoners by putting up a deposit. Many of these had secured the release of their friends on former occasions. They were shocked when they heard the provisions of the new law. Some tried to intimidate the police authorities into releasing friends, while others tried to effect their purpose by pleading.

The new law provides that only a property holder can sign a bond and the only alternative is to deposit $300 with the station keeper. A clause in the ordinance, which has been overlooked, allows the police captains and lieutenants to take special deposits smaller than those specified by the law. The matter is left discretionary with police officials. At Harrison street several $50 deposits have been taken for men who have committed small offenses, where the highest fine would have been $100.

BOYTON'S THOUSAND MEN.

A Force of Americans Being Enlisted to Join Cutting's Army.

New York, Dec. 13.—All day to-day a large force of men were being enlisted at the side-door of the saloon kept by James Pilkington, the carman, on Third avenue. They came in response to the following advertisement in a morning paper: "Wanted, 1,000 able-bodied young men for railroad work in Central America; men accustomed to fire arms required; wages $50 a month; passage paid; $25 advance before sailing. Apply to Armando Olco, agent for Captain Paul Boyton, at 'The Ship,' No. 2376 Third avenue."

A friend of Boyton's said: "Boyton really wants the 1,000 men and is prepared to pay good money for the men. He has returned from the Southwest on Friday. He intended getting these men and taking them back, but was suddenly recalled to Mexico by a telegram last night and left the business in the hands of his partner, Senator Cook, who has not yet called later. The railroad police are all a blind. The work is in Mexico. Boyton has passed for 900 men and Olco has the money to advance. What he wants is fighters. The men are to form a regiment under Boyton in Cutting's army of invasion."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them. The project is to establish a high idea of the qualities of Americans in this respect, the rebel leaders have decided to enlist a strong mercenary force of men to fight for them."

"The money is provided by leading men in the Northern States of Mexico, recently in rebellion, and the project is to establish an independent republic of the States of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, and Durango. The project is to establish